- b. From September to June, P.4 Mathematics teachers will conduct school-based support plan (Mathematics) co-planning meeting with our Mathematics consultant Mr. P. W. Ng to study teaching strategies every month.
- c. From October 14 to October 17, Ms. S. W. Tam attended a professional programme for Special Educational Needs Coordinator (2019/21) for four days.

2. Students' all-round development

- a. In order to help P.1 students to adapt the campus life, our school launched the "Big Brother and Big Sister" programme on the first day of school, allowing senior students to pair up with P.1 students. A pairing allows them to familiarize them with the campus environment, routines and teach them how to do the homework. Also, it allows senior students to show love, learn to care for others, and join hands to build a positive campus culture.
- b. Our school has a Radio Show, produced by our NET teacher Mr Kevin, can be played from our school website every Friday this year. The first show has started on October 9. The Radio Show can enhance students' English listening ability and interest in learning English.
- c. The school held the "Tsuen Show! Performers' Music Competition" to give students more opportunities to perform and enhance their confidence. The response of this competition was overwhelming.
- d. The school arranged a training for the students of the Discipline Team on October 9, with the purpose of cultivating students' leadership. The students performed very well. In the game, they not only learned to tolerate each other, but also learned the importance of unity.
- e. The school gives great importance to health education and has always paid attention to the health of students. On October 20, the "Straighten Up School Scheme" in our school was officially launched to let students understand the importance of spinal nerve health.
- f. Starting from October 27, our English team holds a series of Halloween activities. Apart from knowing about western cultures and festive activities, students also learn different English vocabulary and communicate in English. On October 30, students wear different types of Halloween costume and participate in the activities. Their interest in learning English, and their English listening and speaking abilities have been enhanced.
